

➤ Mapping HIV Prevention Services and Activities to the District Level in Greater Accra Region, Ghana

The project aimed to test the Know Your Response (KYR) toolkit in the Greater Accra Region of Ghana, specifically to identify and eliminate problems in the KYR tools and/or making the toolkit widely available in a finalized format. It also aimed to determine whether data collected via the tools yield the information that is needed to assess the extent to which prevention interventions match current HIV-transmission patterns, are focused on geographic areas where HIV is spreading most rapidly, and cover technical recommendations for HIV -prevention among population at higher risk of HIV exposure. Dr. Amos Laar was the lead SPH Investigator. The total grant amount is USD 100,870.00. This project was funded by USAID through MEASURE Evaluation.
