

➤ Partnering for Health Professionals Training in African Universities (P4HPT)

The aims of the P4HPT project is to build the capacity of professionals with a view to expand the health workforce in the target countries and subsequently improve well-being of communities. The partnership is comprises University of Ghana, Ghana (Coordinating Institution), Makerere University, Uganda, Uganda Martyrs University, Uganda, Stellenbosch University, South Africa, University of Nairobi, Kenya, Moi University, Kenya, Eduardo Mondlane University, Mozambique, University of Burundi, Burundi, University of Juba, South Sudan, University of Lesotho, Lesotho, Universite Catholique De Bukavu, Democratic Republic of Congo. The project will provide scholarships to PhD and Masters Students to study in the partner institutions in a range of health programmes/fields in Medical Sciences, Public Health, Nursing and Midwifery. The project team held its Central Project Management meeting at the School of Public Health and a project website (www.ug.edu.gh/p4hpt/) has been launched. Calls for application for PhD and Master Scholarships have been announced.

INTRA-ACP
MOBILITY

